Post on the Bud Board

The Bud Board is RepBud's community feed for the travel trade — here's how to read it, post to it and make it yours.

The steps

01 Open the Bud Board

Open Connections and choose Bud Board. In the app it is the raised dome in the middle of the Connections screen. Posts run newest first, and the feed ends with You're all caught up.

02 Three views, four topics

Community shows posts shared with the board, Connections shows posts from your connections, and Saved holds what you kept. Posts sit under On the road, Trade talk, Ask the community and Good news. Filter to one, or mute a topic you would rather not see.

03 Write a post

On the website choose What's happening in your world?; in the app tap Start a post. Write up to 3,000 characters and pick a topic. A post you leave unfinished is kept as a draft in that browser, without its photos.

04 Add photos, a link or a poll

Add up to four photos, each with a short description. Add a link, or a poll with a question, two to four answers and how long it stays open. A post can carry up to two links and up to three of Ray's stickers.

05 Choose who sees it

Who can see this is Community or Connections only. Who can comment is Everyone who can see it, Connections only or Comments off.

06 Checked before it shows

Each post and comment is checked before anyone else sees it, usually within moments. Until then it shows Checking... and only you can see it. If RepBud needs a closer look it shows Under review.

07 React, comment and share

React with Ray gives one reaction per post, from Brilliant to Deal done. Comment opens the conversation, with a reply under each comment. Share quotes the post in one of your own, or copies a link that members who can see the post can open.

08 Mention someone

Type @ and pick a name to mention a connection. They find it under Mentions on the Bud Board.

09 Keep or Remove

Keep saves a post to Saved. Remove takes it off your own board, with Undo. In the app, swipe a post left for the same two choices.

10 Edit, delete or report

The menu on your own post has Edit post and Delete post. Changed words are checked again before others see them. On someone else's post the menu has Report post, and a mute for that member.

Questions

Who can use the Bud Board?

Members of the RepBud network: Reps, Travel PRs, DMCs and Ground Handlers, event organisers, airlines, associations, tourist boards, industry services, recruiters, RepBuddies, Reporters and RepBud Ready accounts. A RepBud Ready account shares the Bud Board with Reps and Travel PRs: it sees their posts and they see its posts, and in the app it opens the board from the Bud Board row on its home screen. Business accounts are not part of the Bud Board. It is for signed-in members; it is not a public page.

Why can't others see my post yet?

Posts and comments are checked before anyone else sees them, usually within moments. Until then only you can see yours. Under review means RepBud is taking a closer look, and it stays visible to you meanwhile.

Can I post only to my connections?

Yes. Set Who can see this to Connections only when you write the post. You can also limit or turn off comments.

Is there a limit on posting?

Up to 10 posts in 24 hours, with up to two links in a post. Until your email address is confirmed you can post three times in 24 hours, without links or photos.

How long do posts stay on the board?

Posts stay on the board for 90 days. Your own posts stay in your history, and anything you saved stays in Saved.

What do Keep and Remove do?

Keep saves the post to Saved so you can find it again. Remove takes it off your own board without telling anyone, and Undo brings it back.

Can I change a post after posting it?

You can change the words, the topic, the link, who sees it and who can comment. Photos and a poll stay as posted; to change those, delete the post and write it again.

Is the order of posts chosen for me?

No. The board shows the latest first. You can switch to Most discussed this week, search the board, or filter by view and topic.

Will my phone notify me about the Bud Board?

No. The Bud Board tile carries no count and sends no phone notification or email. Open the board to see what is new, and Mentions for posts and comments that name you.
